Energy

We are specialist lawyers providing advice on more than just energy law – we consider the commercial drivers for developing an energy project and minimising risks whilst navigating the energy maze.

We advise on energy generation plant development from conventional power to all forms of low carbon and renewable generation – nuclear, solar, wind, biomass, energy from waste, geothermal, hydro, tidal and wave.

We advise on land and site assembly, securing consents, planning and permits, obtaining finance, project structuring, energy regulation, fuel supply, grid connection and power purchase contracts.

Importantly, we support clients throughout the life of an energy generation plant. We are experts on dealing with legal issues in the construction and commissioning period, as well as helping to manage challenges that may arise in the operational phase.

We are also market leaders in energy efficiency – a crucial aspect to the UK's low carbon future, advising on combined heat and power (CHP) and innovative energy efficiency measures in both homes and businesses.

We advised BXS LP on the utilities and district energy aspects of the Brent Cross South redevelopment in North West London. The project will build 6,700 new homes and up to four million square feet of commercial office space.

Financial Services

We offer a comprehensive range of financial services expertise covering non-contentious transactional, regulatory and contentious work.

Our dedicated financial services team is made up of various disciplines including corporate, property, litigation, advisory, regulatory, employment and insolvency.

Our financial services expertise includes:

- Leveraged finance
- Project and property finance
- Regulatory advice

- Restructuring and insolvency

Health and Social Care

We are one of the UK's leading health and social care legal and regulatory advisors. We act for over 60% of all NHS Trusts and clinical commissioners, including a range of other NHS organisations such as NHS Resolution and NHS Property Services. We also act for over 300 independent health and social care operators, funders, providers and suppliers. We provide a comprehensive range of legal and regulatory support including corporate and commercial, property and construction, healthcare and regulatory law, employment and business immigration, health & safety and information governance.

Our multi-disciplinary legal and regulatory teams regularly advise boards, management and care delivery teams on a range of commercial and governance needs, patient safety and investigations, estates developments and workforce issues.

We are pre-eminent in health infrastructure transactions, estates joint ventures/subsidiaries and LIFT and PFI/PPP schemes. These include:

The firm's Independent Health and Social Care practice advises an extensive range of clients including large national and international health and social care operators, SMEs and owner-managed businesses, plus start-ups, scale-ups, new entrants, funders, investors and suppliers. We act for established operators, alongside digital health, med-tech and life science businesses, as well as major insurers and brokers. Clients across the sector include: Anavo Capital, BMI Healthcare, Leonard Cheshire Disability, Barchester Healthcare, CNA Hardy, Sussex Primary Care and Symphony Healthcare.

As part of our multi-disciplinary team approach, we have strong sector-wide connections with stakeholders and intermediaries and we are part of a highly-integrated peer network.

We recently advised Adept Care Homes in relation to an amendment of its £32m group refinance, as well as Acacia Care on the acquisition and development of a care home site.

We have won at the HealthInvestor Awards for six consecutive years. Most recently we were named Legal Advisors of the Year in both the Transactional and Private categories at the 2022 awards.

Higher Education

Our team of specialist higher education lawyers advise a number of higher education institutions, including universities within the internationally renowned Russell Group as well as dynamic new universities and colleges. We provide well-informed, pragmatic legal solutions, whilst delivering excellent value for money.

We support and guide higher education institutions as they establish strategies to face the commercial and workforce challenges due to the impact of issues such as COVID-19, Brexit, industrial action and global competition. This includes advice on:

- Commercial and corporate law including with regard to operations overseas

- Education law including student disciplinary and academic misconduct processes

- Estate management, property and construction including acquisitions and major development projects

Acting on behalf of the University of Oxford, we successfully defended a claim brought to the High Court for damages by a former student, who sought £1m from the University for failing to award him a first class degree. His claim alleged of "negligently inadequate teaching" which affected his overall grade and a "marked deleterious effect" on his subsequent career, was rejected.

Housing

We advise clients across the spectrum of organisations engaged in housing and regeneration including Registered Providers, Local Authorities, Private sector developers, Funders and Contractors

We offer a complete service and support clients on all legal issues relating to the following matters:

- Governance and corporate
- Funding and treasury

But importantly, we offer more than just legal expertise – we provide an in-depth understanding of the housing market accumulated over decades of specialising in the sector. We understand how technology could improve and reduce costs of legal services and which partnerships and introductions could add value for our clients.

We advised Peabody Housing Group on a joint venture with Lendlease, on one of the country's largest regeneration schemes to develop the area known as Thamesmead Waterfront. The £8bn+ project will see the delivery of over 12,000 new homes together with new transport infrastructure, primary and secondary schools, health facilities, green spaces, business and creative space, leisure and community facilities.

Insurance

Our specialist insurance team supports insurer clients in all areas of their business, from organisational structuring and workplace issues, to protecting their brand and making commercial decisions.

A large part of this is about claims handling. We are known for our expertise in managing the process, from initial notification through to negotiation and litigation. Our legal support is personal. It is based on strong relationships with long-standing clients who value our clear advice and the outcomes we achieve.

We manage disputes for motor, casualty, medical malpractice and property insurers, and also handle a wide range of professional indemnity and product liability claims. In addition, we advise a large number of clients in the life, health and critical illness markets.

Our work for insurers also encompasses:

- More complex policy indemnity disputes
- Advice on risk transfer and adequacy of insurance arrangements
- Advice on distribution agreements
- Broker network and affinity and white label arrangements
- Outsourcing and offshoring contracts
- Arrangements and disputes with third party service suppliers

We have specialists who advise insurer clients on data security and intellectual property issues, helping them to minimise the reputational and regulatory risks that data breaches can present.

Local and Central Government

Our experience is unrivalled in advising councils nationwide across all legal disciplines. Ranked as a tier one local authority practice, we bring broader experience from our market leading health and housing practices. We pride ourselves on practical, high quality and innovative advice, ensuring our clients receive bespoke solutions to meet their needs.

We advise councils seeking to redefine their roles and focus on a growth and prosperity agenda with a stronger sense of place, whilst at the same time, seeking to manage demand for services resulting in different delivery models and alternative sources of finance.

Within central government, we provide advice on legislative programmes which requires interpretation of policies and the implications for relationships with the private and public sector.

Our experience is borne from years of advising central government and their delivery agencies on infrastructure projects, regulatory and compliance issues. We advise on national infrastructure programmes in health, education and energy as well as advising regulators and ombudsman on compliance issues.

We advised Birmingham City Council on the £1bn Birmingham Smithfield mixed-use development, construction and regeneration, developing 2,000 homes, 300,000m² retail/office space. This formed the principal investment hub, a catalyst for £5bn+ of Birmingham-wide 20-year public/private investment.

Bevan Brittan provided us with a first class service. We were impressed with the excellent quality of work and they were practical, responsive, and helpful. Bevan Brittan effectively became a virtual extension to the Council; we truly felt that they were on our side and they were on-hand whenever we needed them.

Our in-depth manufacturing knowledge means that our advice is delivered quickly, cost effectively and with a commercial focus, truly adding value to management teams and enabling manufacturers to exploit strategic opportunities and overcome the operational challenges.

We help clients grow their business advising on joint ventures and partnering, commercial contracting, exporting and property management. This enables them to develop and deliver high-quality products with advice on intellectual property, supply chain management and workforce management.

We support manufacturers' response to significant operational challenges such as Health and Safety incidents, workforce issues, regulatory inspection and enforcements, and commercial disputes.

We are also advising Praxair and AM Todd (both US-listed groups) on all UK governance matters, in relation to complex corporate reorganisations, acquisitions and funding structures.

Waste and Resource Management

Our specialist legal and commercial advisers recognise that waste is a resource – a valuable commodity that should be reused and recycled – often making a contribution to the UK’s energy requirements.

We understand the sector. We specialise in the development of merchant waste infrastructure and waste PFI/PPP. We advise on all forms of energy from waste plants, including advanced conversion technologies, moving grate and anaerobic digestion. Our experience includes helping clients manage all the relevant waste streams, such as both municipal and commercial waste, RDF/SRF, biomass and clinical waste.

We are market leaders in the combined heat and power sector. We have delivered a significant number of district energy projects which use excess heat from energy-from-waste plants as a fuel.

We are sector innovators. From new project delivery models, new waste treatment technologies, resource efficiency programmes, through to smart cities.

Recent projects include:

Norfolk Waste and Environmental Services Project – a £230 million joint waste collection, recycling and street cleansing contract between Serco and three local authorities (Breckland Council, North Norfolk District Council and King’s Lynn & West Norfolk Borough Council).

Buckinghamshire Waste and Environmental Services Project – a 10-year contract joint waste collection, recycling and street cleansing contract between Veolia and 3 local authorities (Chiltern District Council, Wycombe District Council and South Bucks District Council).

Allerdale Waste Services Limited – a new waste and recycling company created by Allerdale Borough Council for the dedicated delivery of waste management and recycling services in Cumbria. The project includes a seven-year contract between the Council and Allerdale Waste Services.

We also advised Viridor Waste Management Limited on a complex Waste Public Private Partnership (PPP) Contract for Project Green – a partnership of five local authorities from across South Wales. The PPP contract will see 172,000 tonnes of waste per year from the five authorities treated at Viridor’s Energy Recovery Facility (ERF) at Trident Park in Cardiff.
